

Student Performance Expectations for Presentational Writing
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Records, organizes, and conveys information accurately.</li></ul>
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Includes relevant details such as scenarios, definitions, and examples.</li></ul>
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Anticipates readers' problems, possible mistakes, and misunderstandings.</li></ul>
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Uses a variety of formatting techniques such as headings and subheadings, logical structures, graphics, and color.</li></ul>
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Writes in a voice consistent with the document's purpose.</li></ul>
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Employs word choices consistent with the document's purpose and appropriate for the intended audience.</li></ul>