

My mom watched me walk to school without me knowing. She wanted me to be safe. She didn't tell me she did it until years later. She hid behind fences and trees.