Sindra has lived in a castle thinking she was a princess for 16 years of her life. Her name was Nadia but, the real princess has come back and Sindra has to go back to the village. When she learned that she was not the princess she did not cry. I think this is because she did not want to embarrass herself more in front of the staff. She has just learn she is not a princess. She is a normal village girl. Instead of going from rags to riches, like in most fairytales, she goes from riches to rags. I think that would be one of the most embareing things ever.
